HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Miss Adelaide Heath Weds—Marshalls to Return—Reception at French Embassy—News of the Diplomats

A MARRIAGE of more than usual interest to society in Washington took place at noon today when Miss Adelaide Bell Heath, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Heath, became the bride of Capt. Arthur Haldane Doig, U. S. A. The wedding was in Epiphany Church, as St. John's, of which the bride has been a member all her life, is now being remodeled, but the rector of St. John's, the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, officiated.

After the ceremony Mrs. Benjamin Hellen, whose daughter, Mrs. Thomas Wilson Bowers, was Miss Heath's matron of honor, entertained the members of the bridal party at an informal breakfast. Following this Captain Doig and his bride started for their wedding trip and finally they will go to Oregon, where Captain Doig has been ordered for station.

Invitations for the wedding today were sent out by the bride's aunt, Miss Mary Mason Heath. The ceremony was dignified and charming in every detail. The church was effectively decorated with palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums, with autumn leaves to give a touch of color. The bride was given in marriage by her godfather, Charles C. Glover, Mr. Thomas Wilson Bowers was matron of honor, Miss Elizabeth Heath, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and there were six bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Nash, Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith, Miss Leonora Finley, Miss Elsie Downing, Miss Julia Whiting and Miss Eleanor Johnston.

The matron and maid of honor wore charming frocks of mauve chiffon fashioned on the newest and most becoming lines and girdled with blue. Bridesmaids in Mauve and Blue. The bridesmaids were gowned in blue chiffon similarly made, with girldes of purple; and all the attendants wore picture hats of purple satin and chiffon trimmed with graceful bows of silver ribbon. Silver slippers and hose completed singularly smart and dainty costumes, and each girl carried a handful of asters in tones of mauve and purple and delphiniums tied with silver ribbons.

Miss Heath's bridal costume was of white chiffon built over satin. It was simple in line and guileless of trim, mingling with a silver girdle. There was a court train of satin hung from the shoulders. She wore a tulle veil held with orange blossoms, and carried a shower of sweetheart roses. Lieut.-Col. C. W. Baird, General Staff, U. S. A., was best man for Captain Doig and the ushers were Lieut.-Col. Thomas Cook, Lieut.-Col. Arthur Campbell, Lieut.-Col. Gilbert Marshall, Col. C. Lacey Hall, Major Edward Harrison, Comdr. C. T. Jewell, Robert Barton, and Blaine Mallan.

Among the guests from out of town present at the wedding were Mrs. Alexander Mackay-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Beale and Mr. and Mrs. William Bell Watkins, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Edward Willis, of Richmond, and Colonel and Mrs. F. C. Harrington.

When Captain and Mrs. Doig left for their wedding trip, the bride wore a smart tailored suit of dark green cloth, with a becoming black velvet hat and beaver fur.

Festivities for Miss Heath and Captain Doig were continuous for a week or ten days before their wedding, and last evening Mr. and Mrs. James Marion Johnston entertained at dinner for the bride and bridegroom, the bridal party and the out-of-town guests here for the wedding. Captain Doig is a Californian, but for three generations his bride's family have been factors in Washington society. She is a granddaughter of the late Surgeon General Barnes, and her mother, then Miss Anna Barnes, was one of the bridesmaids at the marriage of Miss Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and Alben W. Searles.

Miss Heath was presented to society by her grandmother the season that the debutante circle was headed by the "big sis" with large fortunes and brilliantly placed socially, with whom she had been friends from childhood, and she shared with them a most successful first season. She has been very popular in Washington, and has a host of friends here who regret that her new home will be so far away.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall returned to town today from

MRS. GEORGE JOSEPH NEWGARDEN.
Formerly Miss Joan Howie Du Hamel. The marriage took place yesterday.

Kingston, N. C., where Mr. Marshall delivered an address.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing will leave Washington tomorrow for Albany, where the Secretary will receive an LL. D. degree from the University of the State of New York. They expect to return on Friday or Saturday.

Vicount Grey of Falloden, the newly appointed ambassador of Great Britain, was entertained at dinner last evening by Secretary and Mrs. Lansing. The party was quite unofficial as Vicount Grey has not yet presented his credentials to President Wilson and the company to meet the guests of honor was limited to sixteen.

Mrs. Lansing will be at home informally this afternoon and on Wednesdays through the season.

Jussarands Entertain.

The Ambassador of France and Mme. Jussarand entertained at a reception at the embassy yesterday for members of the French military mission now at the Shoreham, several of whom were accompanied by the ladies of their families. The commissioners are on their way to West Point to present to the Military Academy, in behalf of the Societe des Amis de l'Ecole Polytechnique, a memorial of the great war. The memorial is a bronze reproduction of the statue of the Court of Honor of the French School. Lieut. Col. C. E. T. Lott, United States General Staff, has been detailed to accompany the mission on its tour of this country.

A dispatch from Rome brings the news that Baron Romano Avezzano is to be appointed Italian ambassador to the United States to succeed Count V. Macchi di Cellere, but it has not been possible to confirm this at the State Department or the Italian embassy. Baron Avezzano is married to an American girl, Miss Taylor, of St. Louis.

The departure of Count and Countess di Cellere would be greatly regretted, as they are very popular in Washington.

Bakers Leave Capital.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Newton D. Baker left Washington anniversary of the death of their son, Master Carlos Galvan.

Mrs. Brockbridge Long, wife of the Third Assistant Secretary of State, entertained guests at luncheon yesterday.

Miss Nancy Lane, debutante daughter of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane, will return to Washington today from California, where she spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lothrop Brown, who have been in Washington in connection with the industrial conference, will return to New York tonight. They have been staying at the Shoreham.

Rear Admiral Walter McLean, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. McLean have taken a house in Warrenton, Va., for the winter.

Miss Mary Perry Brown was the guest of honor at a delightful luncheon given at the Cafe St. Marc's on Monday in celebration of her birthday. The hostesses, who completed the party were Mrs. Charles Humphrey, Mrs. Charles Carroll Wadsworth, Mrs. Henry Robertson, Mrs. Charles Laird, Mrs. Nowcomb Barney, Mrs. L. T. Michener, and Miss Violet Biddle. The luncheon was followed by bridge at Mrs. Humphrey's apartment in the Washington and the bridge party in turn was followed by an informal tea with Mrs. Humphrey as hostess.

Mrs. Rolfe E. Bolling is the guest of Mrs. Talbot Smith in New York this week.

Miss Madeline Marie Markling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stephen Markling, and Charles Schwartz Tiers, of Philadelphia, were quietly married this morning in St. Patrick's Church, with only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends present. The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock by Father Smythe, and was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, in Fairmont street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Tiers left for a short wedding trip.

The bride wore a brown velvet gown trimmed in silk lace with a large picture hat to match and a corsage bouquet of orchids. She was attended by her sister Miss Katherine Elizabeth Markling, who was gowned in a becoming dress of dark blue georgette trimmed in crystal beads. She wore a velvet hat to match, and carried a bouquet of tea roses.

Lieut. Louis P. Tiers, U. S. A., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Among the out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Joseph Tiers, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Cecil Eady and Major and Mrs. Charles T. Griffith, all of Philadelphia, who are guests of the bride's parents.

Mr. Tiers and his bride will make their home at 2655 McCallum street, Germantown, Pa.

Whittemore-Walford Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Gladys Ruth Walford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Walford, Laurens, S. C., to Mr. Whittemore, formerly of Topeka, Kan., took place last evening. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. Wilmer P. Johnston in the home of the bride's parents in the presence of a small company. Mrs. John C. Sterling, of Newport News, was the matron of honor, and the two bridesmaids were Miss Edith Walford and Miss Mildred Walford, cousins of the bride. The flower girl was Miss Alice Walford, sister of the bride and the best man was Orland Lytle. The decorations were of pink chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and georgette crepe, made in a square train hung from the shoulders. Her tulle veil was arranged in cap effect and held with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Her only ornament was a string of pearls. The maid of honor was in rose colored satin and silver net, and carried pink chrysanthemums, and the bridesmaids were also in pink satin and silver net and carried pink roses and delphinium. The flower girl was in pink organdy and carried a basket of pink roses. Mrs. Walford, mother of the bride received with the bridal party, wearing taupe georgette crepe and panne velvet. The guests at the ceremony remained for the informal reception and supper which followed and later Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a suit of brown silvertone cloth with a beaver cloth hat and wolf fur. They will later be at home in Chevy Chase.

Capt. Count Enrico Luserna di Campiglione, assistant military attaché to the Italian Embassy, entertained a small party at dinner and cards at the Waldorf Park Inn. The guests were Commander and Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Col. J. Knowlton, Mrs. J. M. Reynolds, Mrs. W. P. Ham and Mr. Alfani of the Italian Embassy.

Mrs. F. B. Moran has opened her home on Sheridan Circle, where she is now established.

Vanta Baby Garments

No Pins! No Buttons!

—EVERY MOTHER—or expectant mother—will be delighted with these beautiful garments for babies.

—These are the garments recommended by doctors, nurses and infant welfare experts—the kind that fasten without a single pin or button. No danger of infection from pin pricks or scratches—no buttons to pull off, or be broken in the wringer.

Each garment fastens securely with cute little bows of twistless tape that tie in front, so that baby can be dressed from top to toe without once turning him over.

Nurse Cleary is here to tell you about VANTA BABY GARMENTS this week. Infants' Department—Second Floor.
